What is the Aging and Disability Resource Center (ADRC)?

The ADRC is an access point for older individuals, people with disabilities and caregivers. The ADRC provides information, awareness and referrals island-wide. Aging and Disability Specialists are prepared to help individuals find information on supports and services provided throughout the island. They are also available to meet with families to provide Option Counseling to help people plan for long-term support needs. Option counseling may be conducted over the phone or in person. To make sure we can best serve you, it is helpful if you call to make an appointment.

This directory was developed to assist Hawai‘i Island’s seniors, individuals with disabilities, caregivers, and families in finding meaningful resources. This is a list of resources for most asked about items; this is not a complete list of all island resources. Please contact the Aging and Disability Resource Center (ADRC) with questions or if you need assistance with connecting to resources. The following is provided as public information by the Hawai‘i County Office of Aging and The Aging and Disability Resource Center. This information is not a complete or comprehensive list of all resources who are qualified or licensed in the County of Hawai‘i. This list of resources does not constitute an endorsement, recommendation or determination of fitness to provide professional services to the public or any person or entities by the County of Hawai‘i. It is your responsibility to verify and investigate the service providers. The County of Hawai‘i assumes no liability for any actions, non-action, or business conducted with these resources.

This project funded in part by the County of Hawai‘i, the State Executive Office on Aging, and through the Title III funding of the Older Americans Act.
